Throw out this corrupt Congress government

National BJP president Amit Shah's three-day tour of Karnataka, predictably enough, proved hugely beneficial from an organisational perspective. His meetings with office bearers and party workers, plus his interactions with a clutch of people from different walks of life gave a new lease of life to the party machinery. More importantly, it helped renew the focus on the missteps and shortcomings of the ruling Congress regime under Mr. Siddharamiah. The tour was a hit in more ways than one.

- Shri Shah launched a frontal attack on the Congress in which he clearly stated that the Karnataka government was the most corrupt in the country. Judged by his utterances, it was evident that graft and misgovernance would be the most important issues in the state polls due next year. They had been handed to the BJP on a golden platter.
- The national party president highlighted that the Modi government had raised Central disbursements to the state by a whopping Rs 1,30,932 crore i.e. from Rs 88,583 crore to 2,19,506 crore. The Bangalore metro project had received an additional Rs 2,612 crore. Another Rs 27,482 crore had been allocated to develop the state's National Highways, and Rs 4,953 crore to the Amrit Mission. There were other projects and schemes for which still more money had been advanced. Where had all this money gone, asked Shri Shah, in his attack on the state government. The plight of the poor in general, and farmers in particular, had worsened. These facts and figures would serve as potent electoral weapons which the party would not hesitate to use in next year's electoral battle.
- Shri Shah won the confidence of district level workers by permitting them to air their grievances during the open session. He said they were the real face of the organisation. Without their hard work and cooperation the party could scarcely make any progress.
- Full time workers under the Pandit Deendayal Upadhyaya visit and yojana were given a pep talk by Shri Shah at a special session. The workshop was attended by MPs, MLAs,

- councillors, and even division level office bearers. The focus of Shri Shah's talk was how wondrous results could be achieved by cooperation and synergy. The general opinion among participants was that the interaction with the party president would pay immense electoral dividends to the party.
- Shri Shah visited the timeless Adichunchanagiri Peeth to honour the sentiments of millions of believers in the state. He spent several hours at the place, even performing puja at the Shiv temple besides participating in other programmes. The peeth is said to be more than 2000 years old, and a symbol of faith in Karnataka. The visit earned him the confidence of countless devotees of the peeth.
- Shri Shah impressed one and all by the detailed manner in which he reviewed the working on the party's Ajeevan Sahyog Nidhi for workers. The fund was specially created to encourage fiscal honesty and integrity among the rank and file given their personal and family needs.
- Shri Shah explained the various facets of the workings of the social media in view of its critical importance in the highly charged and polarised politics of today. He finalised plans to use its instant information sharing mechanism in effective booth management during polls.
- Shri Shah, during his three-day tour of the state, made it abundantly clear from various platforms that the next state polls would be fought under the leadership of ex-chief minister B S Yeddyurappa. This would rally all workers to the party cause and give the campaign a sense of unity and purpose.

Beti bacchao Beti Paddhao

Less than a year after propelling the BJP to power in 2014, Prime minister Narendra Modi unleashed the Beti Bacchao Beti Paddhao (BBBP) slogan at Panipat in Haryana. The date: 22nd January 2015. The BJP has always been against making distinctions between the sexes. Equality between the two has been the party's credo despite societal norms to the contrary. And it is precisely to ensure that daughters are given just an equal treatment that the above clarion call was given.

BBBP is not just a government programme but a public cause in which the party intends to deploy considerable organisational resources to change existing mindsets, even internally. Quite obviously the long-term objective is to transform societal attitudes towards daughters through public awareness, thereby ensuring their security. No less important is the need to remove existing social biases on the need to educate girls. Some conscious decisions have been made on this score.

- The party organisation will play an active role in publicising government programmes connected to BBBP. The task of generating public awareness on this score has been given to a specially created BBBP department.
- The BBBP department will be expected to coordinate the activities of the central unit with that of the states. This is necessary to streamline the implementation of government projects and schemes connected to saving and educating the girl child. The department will organise camps and confabulations in towns and villages to ensure the success of the programme.
- The department has been enjoined to keep an eye on the number of embryo killings and school dropouts of girls, and evolve measures to restrict their occurrence.
- In places where the school dropout rate is abnormally high, the department will be expected to recruit women workers to interact with the families of the girl. These workers will be expected to make serious efforts to persuade unwilling parents to send their daughters back to school. Either way it will be the dept's responsibility on how best to use their human resources. However, all party workers will be expected to throw in their lot to make the BBBP initiative a success. Local units will be free to form a committee of women workers to monitor the situation in their respective areas.

National President Shri Amit Shah's view on 'Beti Bachao, Beti Padhao'

It is important for a political worker to be sensitive to the development of the society. Therefore, it is the duty of all the BJP workers to contribute to the progress of society in one way or the other. 'Beti Bachao, Beti Padhao' is an important policy of the Modi Government, the aim of which is holistic development of girls. The policy focuses mainly on the eradication of the ill of female foeticide and education of girl children. This policy of Modi Government will be a success only if it becomes a mass movement. It is, therefore the duty of BJP workers, especially our sisters to spread the message of 'Beti Bachao, Beti Padhao' among masses.

“ Budgetary allocations made to Karnataka since the Modi regime came to power in 2014 have risen two and half times compared to the UPA years. Why then has the state fallen behind in development? An explanation should be sought by the people from Chief Minister Siddharamiah and his government. ”

The Congress government led by Siddharamiah is among the most corrupt in the states. Personally, I have never seen such a venal regime during my entire public life. Needless to say the corrupt will be punished when the BJP comes to power in the upcoming state polls.

Only a government which genuinely works for people's welfare should be elected. Hence, it is my fervent wish that the people elect the BJP with Yeddyurappa as chief minister. This is necessary to bring the state back to the path of development.

The 13th Finance Commission had during Congress led UPA regime allocated barely Rs 61,691 crore to the state compared to Rs 1,86,925 crore by the 14th Finance Commission after the Modi government came to power.

Even the disbursements made to the local bodies have risen to Rs 15,145 crore during the Modi regime compared to Rs 6,534 crore during the UPA years. Similarly the funding muscle of the National Disaster Relief Fund has risen six times than during the UPA era.

Everybody knows who will be the next president of the Congress and the JDU. But none knows who will be the next person to head the BJP. This is because the BJP is different from other parties. Of the 1,650 political parties of varying size, the BJP is the only one which can boast of internal democracy.

The BJP president is not elected or selected on the basis of his birth or descent. Competence and commitment to the party's ideology is the only criteria. Which is why even a booth level worker can become party chief and a small time party worker prime minister.
