A photograph of Narendra Modi, the Prime Minister of India, planting a young tree. He is wearing a white kurta and a dark blue vest. He is leaning over a large, light-colored pot filled with soil, using a small tool to work the earth around the base of a newly planted sapling. The setting is an outdoor courtyard with a large, modern building with a glass facade in the background. The ground is paved with light-colored tiles, and there are other plants and a small sign nearby.

"This planet, our Mother Earth, is one.
We must rise above
our petty differences
of caste, religion
and power and work
unitedly to save it."

— Narendra Modi,
Prime Minister
