BJP: From Panchayat to Parliament

The ongoing nationwide tour undertaken by the BJP's national president, Shri Amit Shah, has been getting a good organisational feedback. This was evident from his recent tour of Goa. The trip was consequential in more ways than one:

- Assembly poll results in Goa have for several decades been systematically fragmented. This is largely due to the disproportionate personal influence of a few local leaders. No government has thus been able to work with complete independence. This has necessarily taken a toll on the state's development. Shri Shah's effort during his tour was thus to delink the state from the personal orbit of a few local leaders and help the electorate clamber on to the national chariot of development set in motion by the Modi regime. The slogan of "One vote for BJP, one for Goa and India" was thus specifically coined by him to persuade them to work to focus on the party with a national footprint. Shri Shah's approach is expected to give politics in Goa a new direction, and strengthen the BJP.
- Analysing the results of the last assembly poll along with the prevailing ground realities, Shri Shah directed the state unit to focus their energies on winning both the LS seats from the state in the 2019 LS poll and 30 seats in the 2022 assembly elections. The effort should be to win the confidence of every section of the electorate.

- Though the BJP secured just 13 seats in the recent assembly poll, it managed to form the government with the help of seven Christian MLAs. It was thus necessary, he said, to strengthen its bond with the Christian community to keep the party's influence intact.

- Shri Shah drew up a plan in consultation with the chief minister to conduct a contact campaign under which every nook and corner of the state would be traversed by local leaders to build the party's base.
- The BJP president encouraged the 600 plus party workers elected in the recent panchayat elections to attend party programmes to develop a sense of belonging.
- Shri Shah directed the party's state leadership to identify as many full time workers as possible to work for the Deen Dayal Upadhyaya Expansion Project and fortify the party's presence at the booth level.
- Reiterating the BJP's resolve to make Goa a model state, Shri Shah referred to the Rs 35,000 crore Central budgetary allocation made to the state by the Modi regime - a fivefold rise from previous years. This will help in creating thousands of jobs, especially in the tourism sector and the new airport project.
- Shri Shah's joint address to government officials and the party's office bearers is expected to improve coordination between party and government.
- Shri Shah's interaction with local intellectuals helped to clarify the party's stand on a whole host of issues, global, state, and national, thereby improving the party's standing among the elite.

Policy Research Department

A political party has to work in the political field by knowing and closely following the aspirations, the hopes and expectations of the people. It must have a clear understanding of their welfare. The BJP is a party that aspires to work through politics for 'Lok-Kalyan' – peoples' welfare. Therefore, it is our responsibility to keep fully abreast of issues linked to people's expectations and to their welfare. Keeping this in view, the party has set up the Policy Research Department. This department has the mandate to carry out policy research, collate authentic information on various policies that are useful and can be implemented for peoples' welfare. The following are the duties and responsibilities of the Policy Research Department:

- The principal duty of this department is to undertake research and to prepare documents and policy notes on welfare and people centric policies for the various BJP ruled states.
- Another responsibility of the Policy Research Department is to undertake, in a regular manner, a comparative study/analysis of the schemes and programmes of the state governments and the central government, to examine their similarities and dissimilarities, and to prepare reports on these aspects.
- One of the responsibilities of the Policy Research Department is to select specific subjects based on the party's ideology and principles and based on them prepare policy papers. The selection of these subjects and their necessity and utility also comes under the purview of this department.
- An important responsibility of this department is to undertake research and surveys before elections in the states and at the Centre, to ascertain the mindset and mood of the people and the electorate. It has to do this by interacting with workers, by conducting empirical research on issues and political developments in states that are bound for elections and to make available content and matter that may be used for manifesto or vision document.
- The department has to always be aware of the fact that the party's election manifesto has to be distinctly different from the others. For this it is necessary that the department undertakes research and a comparative study of the manifestoes of other political parties. Following this it has to make serious attempt to prepare creative content and policy inputs for election documents.

Shri Amit Shah's Thoughts on the Policy Research Departments

For the BJP power is not an end but rather a means towards bringing about societal transformation, therefore, it is our duty to ensure that our party runs governments inspired by our ideology and principles. In order to ensure this we have to continuously produce research based policy papers. Apart from this it is also our responsibility to document the good practices in governance of our state and central governments and make them available to policy makers.

“ Goa under the leadership of Manohar Parikkar is moving fast towards becoming a model state which will set new standards in the country’s development. ”

The coming to power of the BJP in any state does not merely mark a change in regime but the entire system of governance. Goa is a perfect example of it.

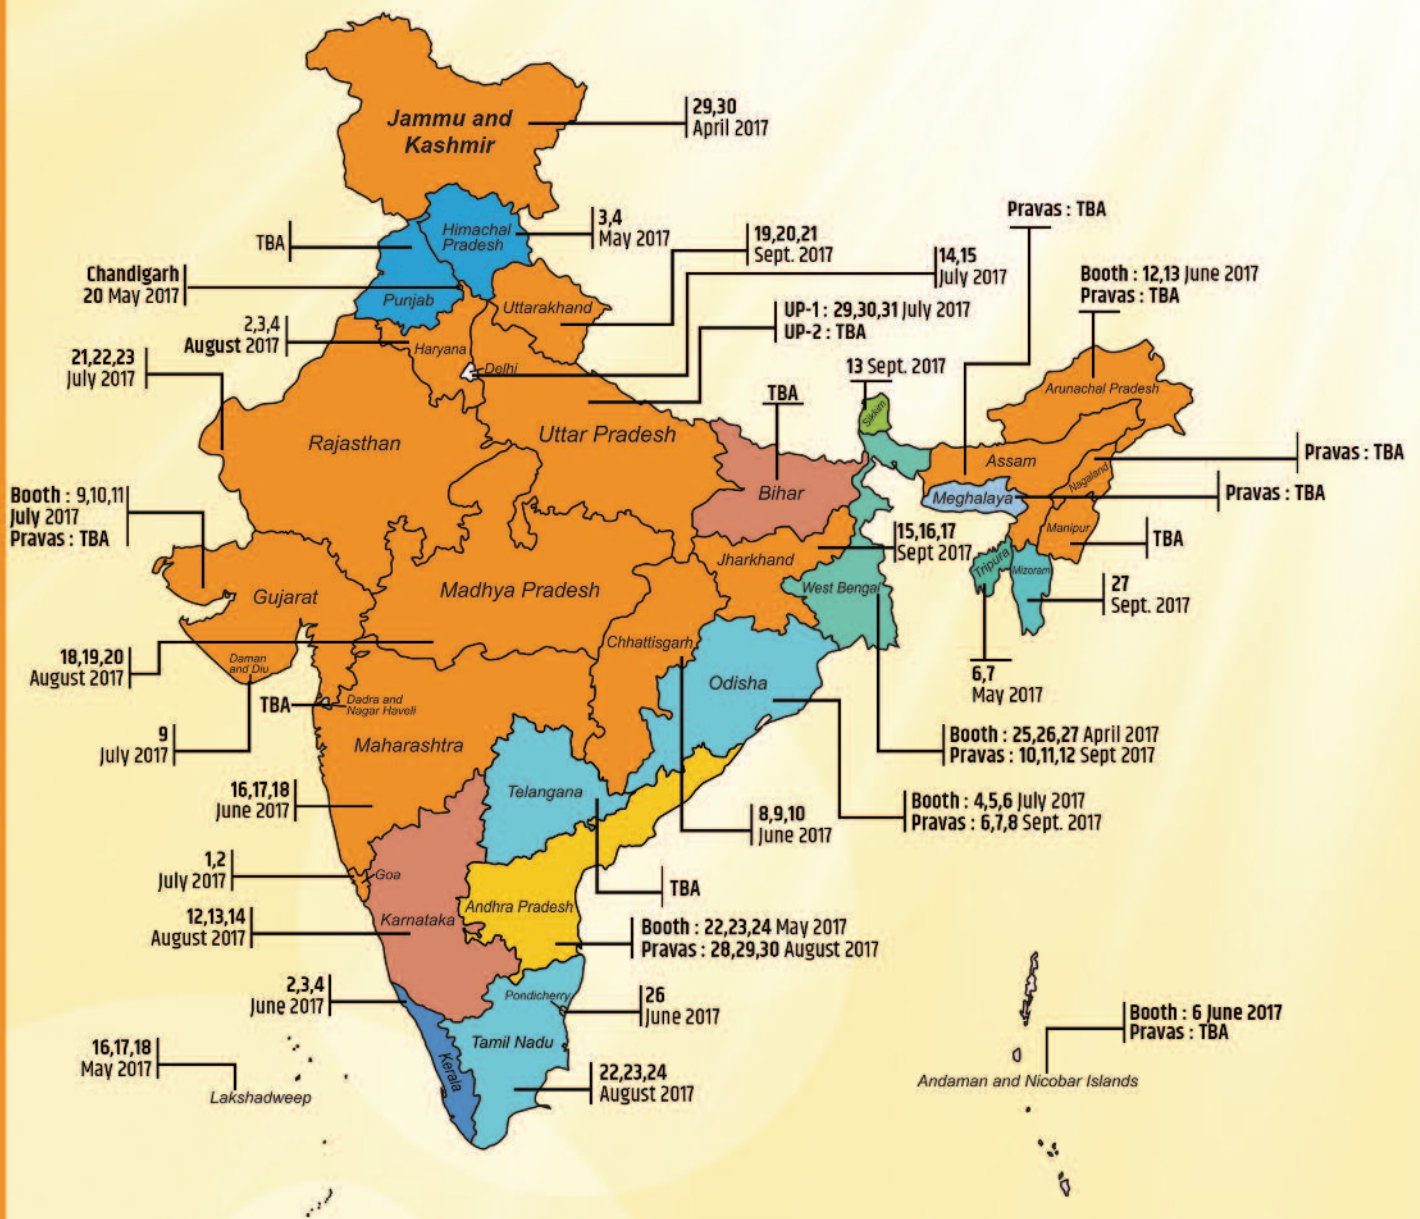

The Modi government has provided all the necessary resources to expedite the completion of all infrastructural projects, be it road construction, shipping or any other.

The formation of the Manohar Parikkar government was in keeping with the wishes of the people. But with it was also formed a government in which corruption has been thrown into the sea lock, stock and barrel.

The party’s journey from the Jana Sangh to the BJP could not have been possible without the dedication and conviction of its workers. Once someone joins the organisation he/she becomes part of one large family.

Work on acquiring a party office in each district should be completed by December 2018. The party office plays a key role in fulfilling the party’s electoral agenda.

The Manohar Parikkar regime in the state is a transparent, corruption free government which is working in the interests of the common man.

Amit Shah arrives in Goa on two-day visit

Panaji, BJP chief Amit Shah arrived in Goa on Saturday on a two-day visit where he is scheduled to meet senior party officials to draw up a strategy for the 2019 general elections.

Shah, who landed at the Dabolim airport around 11.15 a.m., was received by Chief Minister Manohar Parrikar, Deputy Chief Minister Vinay Tendulkar, among others.

BJP district office inaugurated

Saxtti Shadowman attended the BJP district office inauguration on Sunday. It was a very short and a point-spoken function. Saxtti Shadowman noted that it wasn't only a district office inauguration, but also a meet of sorts for the defeated BJP MLAs and the ministers. It was an embarrassment to these MLAs to see their own rivals sharing a stage with the BJP president. "Smile can be seen on the faces of party workers as we have a district office to inaugurate," said Shah, the national BJP president. This could mean a big change in the party's strategy in Goa.
